

This photo is about fun, in what we call The View. What you are looking at is what we consider art. My boys and I are getting tired of using our homes and hood as a canvas and finding it very hard to try to take pride in our work. We want and need an art studio.