

This photo resembles happiness after death. Reminiscing on old memories with that loved one, alone in your room, hoping that you would feel better. Well, trust me when I say it doesn't work. You need to reach out. Talk to someone you trust, like a teacher or counselor, or write all of your thoughts and feelings into a notebook and see if it helps.